Foxboro crash kills one

The two-car crash that occurred at approximately 5:50 p.m. today, September 5, 2023, on Rte. 495 Southbound in Foxboro resulted in one fatality.

The crash is under investigation by the Massachusetts State Police Collision Analysis and Reconstruction Section, with assistance from Troop H investigators and an attorney from the Motor Vehicle Homicide/Major Crash unit of the Norfolk District Attorney's Office.

Preliminary indications are that the woman killed in the crash was stopped in traffic a relatively short distance from the interchange with Rte. 95 when her vehicle was struck by another southbound vehicle. She was transported to the Sturdy Memorial Hospital in Attleboro but did not survive. The driver of the other car, which caught fire at the scene, was transported to a Boston hospital with what are believed to be non-life threatening injuries.

No charges are in place as the investigation continues.
